

Preface

This volume is the final product of IDE Joint Research Project entitled Structural Adjustment Policies in the 1990s: Experience and Prospects, which is coordinated and financially supported by the Institute of Developing Economies (IDE). Three research institutes of the Centre for Economic Policy Research (CEPR), the Brookings Institution, and IDE, participated in the joint research.

We owe much to Richard Portes of CEPR and Barry Bosworth of the Brookings Institution, who organized and led their research groups. We are also indebted to Stephen Yeo of CEPR and Koji Yamazaki of IDE for their support in completing the joint research. Our thanks go also to the IDE's staff for their help in administration and publication, especially to Takeo Masuda who provided the administration expertise.

Earlier versions were presented at a conference held at IDE on October 5-6, 1995. We are grateful to Katsuji Nakagane of Tokyo University, Toru Yanagihara of Hosei University, and Shujiro Urata of Waseda University, for their stimulating comments and discussion on that occasion.

Any opinions expressed in this volume are those of the authors and not of IDE, CEPR, or the Brookings Institution.

March 1996

Akira Kohsaka

Koichi Ohno