

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book is our second composite work on the theme: “Regional Autonomy and Socio-Economic Development in Indonesia”. While the first book entitled “Regional Autonomy and Socio-Economic Development in Indonesia - A Multidimensional Analysis” published in 2003 deals with various aspects of the regional autonomy in Indonesia, this second book focuses on the actual conditions of seven provinces based on fieldwork.

Since this book is a complex work, the authors are indebted to many institutions and individuals who, in one way or another, provide assistance all the way through the completion of this book.

First of all, we acknowledge the contribution of the Indonesian Institute of Sciences (Lembaga Ilmu Pengetahuan Indonesia: LIPI) for its permission and sponsorship to this study; then the Institute of Developing Economies (IDE-JETRO) in Chiba for its administrative and financial assistance to our research team; the Centre for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) in Jakarta for supplying a lot of information about local government officials as interviewees, as well as its facilities like excellent library services and cozy discussion rooms, and last but not the least, the local government officials, members of local assemblies, researchers from various universities, representatives of NGOs, industrialists, etc. for their time and insights during the interviews.

We edited this book to be used widely in the official, academic, and economic world. Our modest hope is that this book stirs up sufficient and positive suggestions for collaboration.
