

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This book marks the third volume in the series by ASED on Myanmar's Industrial Development. The first was published in 2001, where Myanmar made her debut for the first time in this series.

This book has been made possible by the collective effort of the Study Group of Agro-based Industry in Myanmar headed by U Tin Htut Oo, Director-General at Department of Agricultural Planning (DAP) of Ministry of Agriculture and Irrigation (MOAI) and Toshihiro Kudo, Visiting Research Fellow at DAP of MOAI, the editors of this volume.

For the purpose of the production of this book, the Study Group has convened frequently for extensive and in-depth discussions. In addition, many scholars, both Myanmar and foreign, were invited to the study meetings for lectures and discussions. We have also made numerous field surveys to collect information and to consult the persons concerned. Although all their names could not be enumerated here, the Study Group would like to thank all those people who have consented to our interviews and for their valuable time.

All the papers were collectively written by the Study Group, and reflect the Study Group's findings and views only. Therefore, the Study Group is solely responsible for the findings and conclusions contained in these chapters. Furthermore, the views and interpretations of the facts and figures expressed in this publication is purely academic and may not represent any organizations the editors belong to.

The Editors also apologize should there be any mistakes or inaccuracies in this book.
