

Bibliography

1. Asian Development Bank (ADB), Emerging Asia: Changes and Challenges, May 1997.
2. Masami Ishida, "Outline of a Long Term East Asian Econometric Model: Indonesia," in Toida and Hiratsuka, eds. (1997) (in Japanese).
3. Krugman, Paul R., "The Myth of Asia's Miracle," Foreign Affairs, 73(6), 1994, pp. 62-78.
4. International Monetary Fund (IMF), World Economic Outlook: Globalization, Opportunities and Challenges, May 1997.
5. United Nations, World Population Prospects, 1994, 1995.
6. Mitsuru Toida, "Macroeconometric Model in Asia: Development and Issues After the Second Half of the 1980s," Journal of Development Economics, 36(8), August 1995.
7. Mitsuru Toida, and Daisuke Hiratsuka, eds., Impact of Return of Hong Kong to China and Asian Industrializing Region, Institute of Developing Economies: Tokyo, 1995.
8. Mitsuru Toida, and Daisuke Hiratsuka, eds., East Asia's Economic Outlook – Economic Forecast for the Year 2005 – Institute of Developing Economies: Tokyo, 1997.
9. Japan External Trade Organization (JETRO), Trends In Japan's Imports of Manufactures (January-June 1996), September 1996.
10. Daisuke Hiratsuka, and Jinichi Uemura, Asia and the 1997 Reversion of Hong Kong, Topic Report, Institute of Developing Economies: Tokyo, March 1995.
11. D. Hiratsuka, C. Yamaji, S. Umezaki, H. Mitsuo, M. Ishida and S. Okuda, "Outline of East Asian Long Term Econometric Models," in Mitsuru Toida and Daisuke Hiratsuka, eds. (1997), Chapter 2.
12. Chinami Yamaji, "Outline of Long Term East Asian Econometric Models: Singapore and Malaysia," in Toida and Hiratsuka, eds. (1997).